I made the following statement to Lloyd today and at my request that he transmit it to the State, he suggested it write it out:

After my discussion with O. Lloyd and Carroll Monday morning, July 8, I gave a list of charges to the committee they raised concerning the membership in the Maritime strike introduced into the Canning Workers Club by, G. L. Smith and me. I tried to evaluate my action, as I try to evaluate whatever I do, for me the limited nature of our information (the daily papers including the P.M.) and the unavoidability implied by introducing by resolutions based on such limited information.

I feel that had it
not been so much on the defensive during the discussion I would have admitted my error at that time. As it was I spent five days (and much of five nights)
plunking through to what I had done, and came to the conclusion that
to have introduced such a resolution into my club did not meet my
tests and was wrong.

(3)

clear that I had reached this point
independently before I heard of it. I heard it yesterday. After I saw the law books
I was told that she had told me that she agreed in particular
and had already taken
the County so.
